

BAND AND MASTER COMPLIMENTED BY WESTERN PAPER

Paper Published in Former Home of Mr. Barnard, Praises Cardinal Band and Their Leader.

The Daily Ardmore, October 7th, 1922, of Ardmore, Okla., says:

Those who take interest in things musical in Ardmore, may be interested in learning that a former band master who worked here for some time, has been doing great things in organizing a band of nation wide reputation, since leaving Ardmore and from press notices the organization has received it is evidently a wonderful musical aggregation.

The band in question is the Kentucky Cardinal Band of Maysville, Ky., composed of 45 boys under the direction of George D. Barnard, an aggregation that is recognized as the best of its kind in the United States.

The band has just completed engagements at the Ohio State Fair at Columbus, Ohio, and at the Blue Grass Fair at Lexington, Ky., and press notices from papers in both places are extremely flattering.

Mr. Barnard who is rated as a composer and arranger with Sousa, Pryor, King, Vander Cook, and other of like calibre, has just composed a new march dedicated to Governor Morrow of Kentucky that is being widely played throughout the country.

A recent program rendered by the band shows that it has developed the A. B. C. class, as nothing but the best standard overtures and selections were included.

Mr. Barnard has many friends in Ardmore who will rejoice at the success he has achieved in putting Maysville on the musical map.

M. H. S. LOGES AGAIN TO FLEMINGSBURG

Local Gridders Unable to Cross Flemingsburg's Line and Just as Unable To Hold Their Squad.

Beef again triumphed over pluck Saturday when the Maysville High School gridders went down to defeat 31 to 0 at the hands of the big "Red" eleven representing Flemingsburg High. The local are still handicapped by the absence of several of their biggest men and were unable to hold the line plunging of their opponents. The local pulled off several long gains by means of their open game and at the end of the first half were in the shadows of the goal posts.

WASHINGTON THEATER.

Harry Shannon's Players, that good old excellent show will open their engagement for a three-night stand at our playhouse and feel sure that a packed house will greet them.

The opening play, "The Marriage of Geraldine" has been their opening play all season, and it's been proven one of the best plays in the Shannon repertoire. It affords all the members of the cast a wonderful chance to get woven into the good will of the theatergoers, it having a strong story, good fast comedy, with plenty of class costumes.

The vaudeville between the acts is a little above the average. The Shannon orchestra, along is strong enough to feature as a headline act. They play from the latest jazz music to opera.

Many of your old favorites are still with the Shannons and the new faces with the show are sure to make themselves solid with you.

YOUNG GIRL FOUND
SLAIN IN BED ROOM OF HER OWN HOME

Sweetheart Held for Her Murder—Bruises on Body Indicate That She Had Been Run Over By Buggy.

Bedford, Ky., Oct. 16.—Tandy Law, 24 years old, was arrested today and charged with the murder of his 16-year-old sweetheart, Thelma Chandler, whose body was found Saturday night on her bed in her home.

With Law the girl witnessed a baseball game in Sulphur Saturday afternoon. He then left with her in a buggy. It was late at night when Samuel Chandler, the girl's father, returned home. He investigated to see that all of his children were in bed. Thelma was dead.

Her body, fully clothed, had been dragged across the floor before it was tossed on the bed. The girl's hat was in place, her cape was neatly arranged on her, but a corner of the carpet was upturned and chairs had been moved from their customary places. Evidence was found that she also had been dragged across the porch. Sunday afternoon an autopsy was performed. They found bruises on the body evidently made, they said, by a horse's hoofs and the steel rim of a buggy wheel. The victim had suffered internal injuries and a ruptured heart.

In seeking a motive for the crime, investigators learned Law had been calling on the girl for some time, despite her father's wishes. She, they added, soon would have become a mother.

Efforts to trace the girl's movements from the time she left the baseball game so far have been without success. Law, who lives in Sulphur and at times is employed as a mail carrier, said the first news he had of his sweetheart's death was received Sunday morning. At that time he was notified that he was wanted for her murder.

Law declared he left the Chandler home at 6 o'clock. Bloodhounds were used Sunday in an effort to determine whether the girl was thrown from a buggy, and at what point in the road.

ANOTHER CRISIS

Resignation of Primes Minister or Dissolution of Parliament in England Predicted.

London, Oct. 16.—Premier David Lloyd George's resignation or dissolution of Parliament may come any day this week, it was learned on high authority today.

Austen Chamberlain, nominal leader of the Unionist party, called a conference of Unionist members of the government to consider the crisis.

Upon the outcome of this meeting of Conservatives today depends the date of the coming general election, now considered inevitable.

With friends and enemies of the prime minister clashing in the press over the government's near eastern policy, the issue will be put squarely up to the people, it was believed.

"We are on the eve of a general election," many of the newspapers, both pro and anti-Georgian, assert.

STATE WILL PUSH EXAMINATION INTO DOUBLE MURDER

Special Investigator To Be Assigned To Unravel Murder of New Jersey Minister and Wife Of His Sexton.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 16.—A hired gang of experienced criminals, led by an expert gunman and accompanied by a woman who hated the sexton's wife, but loved the pastor, conducted the double murder of Rev. Edward Wheler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on September 14, is the belief of a majority of those investigating the case.

From letters placed in the hands of the authorities by Charlotte Mills, motherless victim of the tragedy, and from the fact that the preacher and woman answered mysterious telephone calls, the investigators, while awaiting appointment of a single head to their activities, agreed the murder was planned in advance.

The attorney general of New Jersey was expected to name today a man to supersede the present prosecutor.

Detective George Tooten, who has been on the case from the start, publicly expressed the arch-criminal theory, and said that within a few days the public would see he was right.

HUMAN RIGHTS

Probably the attorney for the striking railroad shopcrafts did not realize it, but was arguing against his own case when he asserted before the United States Court at Chicago that "the rights of human beings are more important to preserve than the sacred rights of interstate commerce."

Of course, the attorney for the strikers intended to convey the thought that his clients are the "human beings" whose rights must be placed above the rights of interstate commerce, but the ordinary reader will make a broader application of the term. There are something like 110,000,000 human beings in the United States, and only a few thousands of them belong to the shopcrafts. Less than 3,000,000 of them work on the railroads in every capacity. Now, if we are to put the rights of human being above the rights of interstate commerce, is it not inevitable that the rights of 107,000,000 shall be placed above the alleged rights of 3,000,000?

The human beings who make up the bulk of the population of the country have a right to travel, they have a right to send their products to market, they have a right to a continuous supply of the necessities of life. The right of any man to quit is a right no one has denied. But there are more than a hundred million people who will deny the right of those who quit to prevent other men from working. While we are talking about the rights of human beings, let's consider the rights of the workers as well as the rights of the quitters.

Interstate commerce has no sacred rights, but people who depend upon interstate commerce for comfort, health and even life itself, have sacred rights—right which the striking shopcrafts sought to deny. Those are the human rights which the law must and will uphold.

In the same sentence in which he made the plea for human rights, the attorney for the strikers asserted that "constitutional rights must be preserved, commerce or no commerce." There, again, he unwittingly presented the argument for the 107,000,000 instead of the 3,000,000 as he intended. Among constitutional rights is the right of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness. The shopcrafts exercised their constitutional right to quit, and then went further and denied the constitutional right of other men to take their jobs. It is the constitutional right of the people of the country to have food and clothing and uninterrupted transportation. That constitutional right, to use the language of the attorney for the strikers, "must be preserved."

But those two instances in which the shopcraft attorney made a plea for his clients that is really a plea against them, are not the only particulars in which arguments, when fully analyzed, fail of their purpose. At the same time that he was pleading for the upholding of constitutional provisions, other labor leaders were demanding amendments to the Constitution in order that unlawful interference with human rights may not be enjoined. Radical labor leaders appeal to the Constitution whenever it suits their self interest so to do, but as vehemently condemn it when it protects the rights of all the people against their own assaults.

"Human rights" are safe in the custody of the courts under the Constitution and laws of the United States and of the several states.

"Republicans are on the defensive," cries Gov. Cox. Of course the Republicans are defending the records of Congress and the administration against the attacks by the Democrats, but not in the sense of offering apologies. No Republican candidates who ever ran for office had a greater asset than those this year find in the story of what has been accomplished at Washington since President Harding took office. They are proud to go before the people on such an issue.

One of The Nation's Greatest Coal Carriers

During the first six months of 1922, the L. & N. Railroad hauled approximately 16 million tons of coal—enough to supply one and one-half tons to every family in the United States.

During 1921—the L. & N. hauled 520,840 carloads of coal, divided into approximately twenty-four thousand trains. Grouped into one great train these cars would stretch over four thousand miles—or a distance greater than that from Boston to San Diego.

The importance of the L. & N. Railroad as a coal-carrier is thus indicated; as is also the manner in which the road gives co-operative service to the Nation, as well as direct service to the territory through which it runs.

Although coal carrying is one of the least remunerative items in railroad transportation, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad recognizes its obligation to the public in this regard and continuously uses all its resources in the fulfillment of this duty.

COMMENT

—It looks as though the little World Series will be frost bitten.

The fatal accident in the Sardis neighborhood last week should be a warning to hunters in this section. Watch your gun. Safety first pays.

The Sport section and the funnies are the only parts of the big city dailies read by the newsmen in our office. It must be so generally.

Mason county has been on her good behavior for the past year. Bracken, Fleming and Lewis, in Kentucky, and Brown and Adams, in Ohio, have each had one or more murder cases during the year. Mason has had no murders and few felonies of any sort.

Considerable interest is shown here in the Congressional race in the neighboring district in Ohio. Both Mayor Gableman, of Portsmouth, the Democratic nominee, and Congressman Chas. Kearns, of Batavia, the Republican nominee, have many friends and well wishers on the Southern shore of the Ohio.

DIVER UNABLE TO RESCUE 200 POUND WOMAN IN RIVER.

Louisville — Fred Cummers saw a woman struggling in the river and dived in but found she was so large that he couldn't pull her to shore. He held her head above the water until a crew from the United States Coast Guard station arrived and pulled them both out of the water. When they reached shore, Summers found that $90 he had had in his pocket was missing. He looked just in time to see the roll floating down the river fifty feet from shore. He swam out again and rescued it. The near victim was Mrs. Sarah Goldstein, 38, weighing, according to the Coast Guardsmen, nearly 200 pounds. She said her husband was missing from home and that she was seeking him along the river bank when she fell in.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington. — "It is a remarkable fact that the internationalists, pacifists, and what-not who were calling the loudest for 'no more war' a few weeks back are now the ones who are urging the United States to plunge into a war with Turkey," says the Republican Publicity Association. "A moment's reflection by those people would show them that if this country did such a thing the soviet armies would immediately rush to the defense of Turkey, with the probabilities of a general uprising in India, Egypt, and the other Moslem states. It needs but a spark of that sort to precipitate another world war more disastrous in its consequences than that from which we were but recently delivered."

"Great Britain realizes the situation. She has troops and warships at the scene of trouble, but her attitude is purely defensive. The British have made no move to chastise the Turks for their alleged treatment of the population of Anatolia, well knowing that an offensive campaign against the Turks would bring on a catastrophe. Great Britain is a powerful Christian nation like ourselves, and doubtless the British government has been subjected to the same importunities to interfere as has the administration at Washington. But she has held off although her troops and ships are on the spot. Why then should the United States go in when its army and navy are 5,000 miles from the scene of action?"

a distinct service to the cause of peace in stating the position of the United States in his reply to the plea of a Virginia bishop that we proceed against the Turks. Mr. Hughes reminds the writer of the fact that the United States has done everything it properly can to relieve the refugees and to protect against oppression. The American official urged upon the Turkish nationalists the importance of securing the people against reprisals; the allied proposals for protecting the people have been officially approved by the United States; thousands of Smyrna refugees were evacuated as a result of American initiative; and food and other forms of relief have been liberally bestowed. But there are some rudimentary principles of our government that should be borne in mind when talking of war, to which Secretary Hughes calls attention.

"As you are probably aware," wrote Mr. Hughes, "the executive has no authority to go beyond this, and there has been no action by Congress which would justify this government in an attempt by armed forces to pacify the Near East or to engage in acts of war in order to accomplish the results you desire with respect to the inhabitants of that territory and to determine the problems which have vexed Europe for generations."

NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE
Maysville Women Have Learned The Cause of Many Mysterious Pains and Aches.

Many women have come to know that sex isn't the reason for all backaches, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To live simply, eat sparingly, take better care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help bad kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well recommended by Maysville people. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. R. L. Mattingly, 207, West Second street, Maysville, says: "I was in bad condition with my back and kidneys. I couldn't get my proper rest at night owing to the dull misery in my back. I was feeling so miserable I often had to let my housework go undone. I was dizzy by spells and suffered from rheumatic pains. I was so bad I couldn't walk without pushing a chair in front of me and my lower limbs were painful. My kidneys were in bad condition owing to their irregular action. Another of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills successfully and that led me to send to Wood & Son's drug store for a couple of boxes. After using them I was all right. I have felt well since using Doan's and recommend them willingly." Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mattingly had. Turks has been raging intermittently for a thousand years. By no possible perversion of the truth can responsibility for it be laid at the door of America, nor by any stretch of the imagination can it be shown why it is America's duty, rather than that of Old World nations, to bring permanent peace to that distracted region.

"DO AND DARE" MI XVEHICLE, IS FULL OF THRILLS.

In "Do and Dare" an early fall release starring Tom Mix, William Fox has selected a comedy-drama for this virile screen performer which brings Mix to the screen in the comic opera uniform of the revolutionists and, coupled with a monocled eye and a laughably stern visage, the thousands of Tom's followers will find many situations that will both thrill and amuse.

Written by Marion Brooks, the well-known writer of photoplays, and directed by Edward Sedgwick of the Fox West Coast staff, "Do and Dare," is the story of a passive American youth who is suddenly awakened from his western gullelessness and inactivity and sent forth into the romantic realms of adventure by the yarn of an old denizen of the corner drug store. Fate carries Henry Boone (Tom Mix) into the heat of a South American revolution. There, he wins the love of a beautiful woman and the command of a nation's military forces. Mix does some daring riding, transferring himself at one time from the saddle of a horse to the fuselage of an air machine and at another place slides down the 45-degree angle of a mountain side astride his favorite and famous steed, "Tony."

Claire Adams plays opposite the Fox star and does her work excellently.

WORLD WAR VETERAN IS TYPHOID FEVER VICTIM.

BUSINESS LETTER.

The New York Chemical National Bank's bulletin says:

An analysis of the present economic situation reveals unquestionable indications that business has entered a period of increased activity, and that an appreciation of values in the commodity markets is under way. This is evidenced by the pronounced rise in the price level which has occurred in the past few months in contrast to a continued decline during the preceding year and a half. The fact that confidence as to future values has been to a large degree restored is demonstrated also in the strength of the New York Stock Market in the face of the recent labor disturbances and a serious European situation.

Of the forces at work tending to bring about an increased volume of business and higher prices, the most important is the enormous supply of credit available for industry and commerce, due primarily to the unprecedented amount of gold at present in the country. It is estimated that the volume of business being done today at the present price level is utilizing only one-third of the potential supply of credit. The increased cost of production of articles of manufacture due to a higher wage scale and the enhanced value of raw materials also obviously tends to raise the price of the finished product. Other forces which will tend to effect a rise in commodity values are the increased purchasing power of the farmer and the wage earner due to bumper crops and a shortage of labor; the recent tariff law which increases the price of importations of both raw materials and the manufactured products; and finally the speculation which inevitably accompanies a rising commodity market. Increased volume of trading will be accentuated both by the fact that inventories have been pretty well liquidated and that the ultimate consumer, who has deliberately postponed purchases not of an absolutely necessary nature during the period of falling prices, will immediately supply his accumulated needs when he is convinced that the market is rising.

Murray — Mrs. Anna Heath of Martin, Tenn., died in the hospital here as a result of injuries sustained in a fall. She was suffering from a fracture of the hip. The body was shipped to Martin.

LOUISVILLE SURGEONS' WONDERFUL FEAT.

Vanceburg. — Little June Jacobs, born with his feet the wrong way, returned to his home and the whole county feels the urge of a celebration because he can walk like other chaps. After a long seige in a Louisville hospital, as the ward of the National Red Cross Association, his legs were straightened through surgery. Miss Linda Neville, of Lexington, field representative, learned of the pathetic plight of the little cripple, and it was through her efforts that a new life and a chance unfold.

WRECK CLEARED.

Fourteen cars of coal were derailed on the C. & O. at the Maysville Brick Company's plant just east of the city Saturday night and for some time traffic was blocked. Wrecking crews from both ends of the division were at work on the wreck Sunday and cleared away the coal and broken cars.

Col. Edd Bryant was buying cattle in this county last week.

Harry Shannon's attractions passed through Aberdeen Sunday for a three day's show at the Maysville opera house; they are just from Georgetown, Ohio, and people speak well of the show. They deserve a crowded house while in Maysville.

On Saturday afternoon the funeral service of Mrs. Noah Shelton, who passed away Friday morning, was held in the M. E. church, Aberdeen, and was very impressively conducted by the Rev. Fred Riley. The choir rendered appropriate music, and a very eloquent discourse was given by the pastor from the text "Thine eyes shall see the king in his beauty, and behold the land that is far off." Isa 33:17.

Mrs. Shelton was born August 20, 1851, and passed away October 13, 1922, at the age of 71 years. Her three sisters and three brothers were present at the funeral. Mr. Shelton, two sons, Wm. and Wiley Shelton, and five grandchildren mourn the loss of a devoted wife, mother and grandmother. Mr. and Mrs. Shelton were united in marriage in the year 1882 and were both life-long members of the Christian church at Slickaway, Ohio. She was a woman of real sterling worth and character, a bright cheerful christian lady, so highly respected by all who met her. Her death came as a great shock to the community. She will be missed for she was loved by all.
